Philosophy

Toddlers learn best through their interdependent explorations & interactions with their caregivers. With this in mind, our playgroup teacher will set up play activities that emphasize the senses (since toddlers are in the 'sensory - motor' stage of development) for parents or other care-givers to engage in with their tots.

Music time or story time is most enjoyable while sitting in the comfort of a loved ones lap when you are just one year old.

Parents & caregivers can provide support & learn a lot from each other in a playgroup setting. Many lasting friendships are formed when parents of young children get together on an ongoing basis.

Our experienced toddler teacher will also be happy to share information on any topics parents are interested in.

Playgroup Activities will include:

Free Play

Sensory Play

Music

Outdoor Play or Gross Motor Indoor Play

Snack

Dabbling With Art
